NEION+ releases 20 million negative ions per second by electrically charging air molecules and achieves 99.97% efficacy in eliminating the harmful H1N1 influenza virus, covering a diameter of 1 meter at maximum capacity for 20 hours, with negligible ozone emission.

Recommended for closed and crowded environments or during travel.

Negative ions are beneficial to human health, whereas positive ions are potentially harmful. Negative ions are oxygen atoms with additional negatively charged electrons, while positive ions are atoms that have lost one or more electrons.

Smoke, bacteria, viruses, pollen, and other airborne particulate matter carry positive charge characteristics; negative ions neutralize and inhibit their potential to affect the human body.

Negative ions bond with positive ions, altering their structure (i.e., a virus will no longer retain its viral structure), increasing their mass and causing them to settle.

Negative ions neutralize harmful positively charged particles in the environment, support cellular metabolic activity, support immune system function, assist in the reduction of allergic responses, and provide additional effects.
